All Colorado kids deserve a healthy start. But unless Congress acts to keep a critical health care program going, about 90,000 kids and pregnant women could lose their health insurance. Support CHIP and a healthy start for all kids.

Thousands of working families in Colorado use CHIP to access health care for their children. With a low annual membership fee and sliding scale co-pays, CHIP helps these families provide quality health care for their kids and protects them from the financial catastrophe of unchecked health care bills. Support CHIP and Colorado's working families.

Sept. 30, 2017. That's the date by which Congress must act to save a health insurance program that serves more than 90,000 Colorado kids and pregnant women and about 8.9 million kids nationwide. All kids deserve a healthy start and access to quality, affordable health care. All working families deserve the peace of mind they get from knowing their children have the care they need.

For nearly 20 years, Colorado has helped working families access quality health care at affordable prices through the CHIP program. But federal funding for this program is set to run out. If the program ends, 90,000 kids and pregnant women will lose their health care and the healthy start all kids need.
